

Alexis Quintero

Alexis Quintero is a designer and creative born and raised in L.A. In 2020, Alexis relaunched AQ Code, her reworked clothing brand and vintage shop. Alexis sees her work as an extension of herself — creating and curating based on her surroundings and mood. She lets the colors, vibrancy, and culture of the city inform her creativity through each phase of her life. Alexis stays inspired through the full design process, crafting her ideas into final products that bring her world to life.

On her first day of 6th grade, Alexis walked into school and saw the coolest girl in class wearing a cute pair of J's. She's been in love with Jordan Brand ever since. Now she rocks the Jordan Essentials pieces because they add the layers and texture to her fits that she loves. They allow her the freedom to be as expressive as she wants with her outfit.

Alexis likes to choose a bold piece and build around it — even a random nail color can be a starting point. This challenges her to utilize her whole closet, curating outfits that feel authentic to her life and creativity.
